Verified Leads to Grow Your Business

What Makes Fixr.com The Best For Roofing Leads?

To maintain and build up a successful roofing and contracting business, attracting work in a cost-effective way is the most important factor.

Fixr.com is a vital part of that equation.

Fixr.com is a single source vendor, meaning we only sell leads that come through our calculator; a fundamental way for us to control the quality of leads. We ensure quality through our verification process, a 4-digit pin sent through to customers to confirm their identity, coupled with a sales team assisting with best practices to ensure a successful lead processing pipeline.

When you sign up for Fixr, you will be asked if you are interested in roofing leads or solar leads. Based on your answer, you will create an account either on our solar website, SolarReviews.com or our roofing site called RoofingCalculator.com.

Buying 20 leads might only yield 1 sale, but that sale can give you a profit margin of thousands of dollars.

Our goal with Fixr.com is that for every $1 spent on leads, your business will generate at least $5 in gross margin.

Cost breakdown example:

If the cost of 1 roofing lead is $120 and 1 in 15 people use you to install a roof, then the cost of acquisition is $1,800 per job.

If this job is a 2,000-square-foot roof and you are charging $7 per square foot, that is a $14,000 job. With this job, say your cost of labor is $3 per square foot. That leaves you an $8,000 margin from that 1 job.

Fixr.com is in it for the long haul!

Our goal is to help you grow your business to the heights you want to sustain.

EV and Solar Adoption Drivers

2024 CONSUMER GUIDE

Electric vehicles (EVs) are the cheapest option for long-term car ownership, and they're even cheaper when charged with solar panels. With over 2 million registered EVs and 5 million solar installations in America, all trends point to a cleaner electrified future.

64% of solar installers now offer EV charger installations, according to the SolarReviews Solar Industry Survey.

As of 2024, America has over 5 million solar installations. A growth of 2 million in three years!

SolarReviews saw more than a 13% increase in requests for quotes from May 2023 to May 2024.

No matter how they're charged, electric cars are cheaper to fuel up on average than gas-powered cars.

	Gas-powered Hyundai Kona	Grid-charged Kona EV
Average annual fuel/charge needs	435 gallons of gas (assuming average 31 MPG)	3,915 kWh of power
Cost	$1,570 per year	$626 per year

Costs calculated using national average gas price, national average electricity price, and 40 mile daily commute. Costs will vary by state.

⚡ Charging an EV with solar is the cheapest option of all

One year of fuel costs from different sources:
(average 13,500 miles)

Solar panels shield you from rising utility costs for 25 years and allow you to charge your car for less. With enough panels, you can charge your car, power your home, and save thousands annually.

⚡ The equipment a home needs to power a Tesla Model 3

You only need five solar panels, an inverter, and a Level 2 charger to charge your EV with solar energy.

⊕ Adding panels for EVs

Homeowners are adding extra solar panels to new or existing systems to account for EV charging.

SolarReviews estimates that charging an EV with solar power for 25 years could result in over $16,000 in savings by the end of the solar panels' production warranty.

⬆️ Inflation Reduction Act (IRA)

The IRA established many tax incentives to make switching to sustainable options like solar and EVs easier. If you took advantage of these incentives to install solar and buy an EV in 2024, you could save $13,200 on average.

	Average cost	IRA Incentive	Potential Tax Savings
Solar	$16,000	30% tax credit	$5,700
Chevy Blazer LT EV	$48,800	$7,500 tax credit	$7,500
Total without incentives			$67,800
Total with incentives			$56,400
Total savings			$13,200

7 FAQs

about solar energy

How do solar panels work?

Through the photovoltaic effect, when sunlight hits the solar panels, electrons react in a way that generates energy.

How do solar panels save money?

Because homeowners can generate power for themselves instead of buying all of it from a utility company.

What are solar panels made of?

Its key components are solar photovoltaic cells, silicon, metal, and glass. The solar cells are responsible for converting sunlight into usable energy.

How long do solar panels last?

Solar panels typically have a warranty protecting their performance for up to 25 years, but can last for many more!

Do I need solar batteries with my solar panels?

Solar batteries can maximize the amount of solar energy your home uses and keep your lights on during a power outage, but most homeowners don't need them.

Claim #1

Solar is unreliable and will require fossil fuel backup

This can be valid, but battery storage is advancing at a quick rate. Batteries can store power for homeowners and utilities to pull from for overnight use.

Next Claim >

Claim #3

Solar energy is worse than fossil fuels

It takes three years for solar panels to cancel out the emissions needed to create them. While with fossil fuels, the entire process of mining, converting, shipping, and burning for use emits emissions constantly. Solar panels are carbon-negative for most of their usable life.

Claim #4

Solar projects will reduce agricultural production

The practice of agrivoltaics has actually been shown to increase crop production, helping shade plants and keep soil moisture from evaporating.

Next Claim >

Claim #5

Solar development will destroy U.S. jobs

There will be a transition in jobs, but many fossil fuel job skills are easily transferable.

Next Claim >

Claim #6

The U.S. will rely on China and other countries for energy production

The Inflation Reduction Act has encouraged solar panel production within the U.S., and the U.S. is actively increasing lithium mining capabilities.

SolarReviews figure: This is such narrow-minded thinking. We've historically relied on other countries for oil but have since become the largest LNG exporter due to fracking. We are just focusing our brain power on extracting more fossil fuels instead of fully embracing renewable energy.

How a time-of-use plan can help you save money on electricity

You can save money on a time-of-use rate plan by shifting energy usage away from evening peak hours (typically 4-9 pm). Here are some ways to get started:

Energy efficiency

- Heat pumps instead of A/C and furnaces
- Heat pump water heaters
- Home insulation

Smart energy use

- Smart thermostats
- Smart appliances
- Pre-cooling spaces during the day

EV charging • Solar plus batteries • Utility programs

- Smart EV chargers that automatically turn on during off-peak hours or when there is excess solar power
- Solar panels that charge batteries during the day with energy that is discharged during evening peak hours
- Virtual Power Plant programs that pay you to support the grid with remote activation of smart batteries and devices

Solar Powered Electric Vehicles

2023 CONSUMER GUIDE

There is no better time to pair home solar with an electric vehicle (EV) purchase.

Charging your EV with solar increases energy independence while contributing to a cleaner, greener future. What's even better? You get to save money while you do it.

SolarReviews has outlined the key benefits of charging an EV with home solar.

Hint: it will save you money every single month and over the lifetime of car ownership.

Interest in solar-powered EVs is on the rise.

Over the course of 2022, SolarReviews saw over 1 million views on EV-related blogs. There was also an 80% increase in solar estimate requests submitted by readers of the article.

How and why to use solar panels to charge an EV.

These increases signal that more people are researching EV options and are interested in the benefits that solar can provide to their electric lifestyle. 2023 might be the best time to switch to an electric vehicle, with abundant choices and revamped tax benefits for EV purchases.

Electric cars cost less to operate and maintain.

According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, the average American drives about 13,500 miles per year, or roughly 40 miles daily.

With a gas-powered car, those miles would cost $0.30 per mile to maintain versus $0.06 per mile for maintenance on an all-battery EV.

When it comes to maintenance, EVs cost 40% less than gas-powered cars over their lifetime.

	Gas-powered Hyundai Kona	Kona EV
Miles annually	428 gallons of gas needed for 13,500 miles (based on 32 mpg fuel economy)	3,645 kWh of electricity for 13,500 miles driven.
Cost	$1,442* per year nationally	$830 per year in California ($435 per year in a cheap electricity state like Florida)

*Gas prices are highly volatile, and they've never been higher due to inflation in other parts of the world. Our projections use more current average gas prices.

In 2022 there were over 1 million views on EV-related blogs

By choosing home solar, you can make an EV even more efficient and inexpensive.

Charging your EV with solar panels is the most affordable method to power your car. The long-term cost of solar panels is much less than buying electricity from the grid in nearly every state in the U.S. In some cases, the cost of producing your own solar energy is over 50% lower than buying from a utility company.

The ongoing cost of fuel from the grid is whatever you currently pay for a kilowatt-hour (kWh) of electricity. In the U.S., electric rates can be between $0.10 and $0.43, depending on where you live. But the average is about $0.15/kWh and rising. Meanwhile, the levelized cost of home solar in good solar states is currently about $0.05/kWh.

That means that for 25 years, solar panels shield you from rising utility costs and allow you to charge your car for less. You can install enough solar panels to meet your home's energy needs, charge your car, and save thousands of dollars over time.

Solar-powered EVs are better for the environment.

Switching to an EV already means you're cutting emissions by eliminating the need for gasoline and oil, but electricity from the grid still comes primarily from fossil fuels. By running your car on solar power, you further cut down on carbon emissions.

At the same time, the levelized cost of solar energy is cheaper than grid power in most cases. The cost of grid power increases over time, while solar panels keep producing electricity without additional cost and with a much lower carbon footprint.

Fuel for one year (13,500 mi):

- Gasoline - 428 gallons $1,442
- Home EV charger - 3,645 kWh $830
- Energy cost per kWh - $0.23
- Home solar - 3,645 kWh $182
- Home solar - 1,645 kWh $82
- Home solar - 135 kWh $6.8

Solar-powered charging is cheaper and more consistent than other charging sources.

There are three ways to charge an EV: the grid, public charging stations, or your own solar panels. Public charging stations are the most expensive charging option, but they are almost impossible to avoid.

Charging at home as much as possible can help offset this expense - and charging with home solar is the cheapest option.

Type of charging	Cost	Important to keep in mind
Public charging stations	$0.31 to $0.89 per kWh	Varies based on location and charging station owner; additional fee fees; some require monthly subscription; cost increases over time
Grid power at home	$0.30 to $0.43 per kWh	Varies based on location and time; cheapest at night; cost increases over time
Solar power at home	$0.06 per kWh	Levelized over the course of the solar panels' lifetime; additional solar energy can be used to offset electricity bill

What a home needs to power a Tesla Model 3

5 solar panels

Inverter + EV charger

= 40 miles a day

So, how much solar do you need to power your EV?

Of course, you can't just stick five solar panels on your roof and plug them into your car. You need a solar panel system and all the equipment that goes with it. A typical solar EV charging setup will include solar panels on your roof, an inverter that makes the electricity from solar panels usable, and a Level 2 (L2) EV charger.

Just a handful of solar panels on your roof is enough to provide energy to charge your electric vehicle. For example, buying all the equipment necessary to charge a Tesla Model 3 with home solar might cost around $5,400 after the federal solar tax credit (around $4,200 for five 400-watt panels and $1,200 for an EV charger). But, simply adding five panels to an already-planned home solar installation to meet EV charging needs would certainly cost less.

SolarReviews estimates that charging an EV with solar for 25 years could result in $16,250+ in savings by the end of the solar panels' production warranty.

Electric vehicles are the future - and using solar will make your EV investment more affordable and sustainable.

Electric vehicles and home solar panels are the perfect fit. Solar panels can fuel your electric vehicle needs affordably and sustainably, for life.

5 TIPS to save on energy bills

Swipe to discover >

1 Invest in energy-efficient appliances

Energy-efficient appliances do the same job as regular appliances; they just use less energy. If you want to start small, even just switching from old incandescent bulbs to energy-efficient LED light bulbs will still do the trick.

Next Tip >

2 Unplug electronics whenever possible

Electronics plugged into power outlets in your home still draw small amounts of power from the grid, even when turned off. These phantom loads can account for up to 10% of your home's electricity usage.

Next Tip >

3 Use nature to your advantage

If there's a breeze, open up your windows instead of using your air conditioner. If it's a bright, sunny day, keep your lights off and soak in that natural lighting by opening your blinds.

Next Tip >

4 Replace air filter regularly

You should replace the air filters in your air conditioner once a month. This can be crucial if you live in a warmer climate and run your air conditioner for longer periods. If you don't, you could deal with restricted airflow, which in turn causes your air conditioner to run for a longer period and use up more energy.

Next Tip >

5 Start small with solar

Residential solar systems are a big investment. Luckily, you can integrate other solar-powered items into your daily life that cost way less and help lower your electricity use from the grid, like solar generators, solar phone chargers or solar string lights. Instead of plugging these devices into your outlet, you can power them with the sun, which is free!

The Importance of Solar Panel Cleaning

Why Clean Solar Panels?

- Dirty panels reduce energy output
- Not cleaning panels can lower lifetime savings by $2,000 on average
- Cleaning optimizes efficiency and savings

When to Clean

- Clean 1-2 times per year in most regions
- More frequently in dry, dusty areas like the Southwest U.S.
- Panels at a lower angle need more frequent cleaning

DIY Cleaning Steps

- Check with your manufacturer for cleaning recommendations.
- Pick a safe time to clean, preferably on a cool day
- Rinse your panels with water.
- Fill a bucket with water and mild soap solution
- Scrub the surface of your panels with a squeegee or sponge

Professional Cleaning

- On average it costs between $5 and $15 per panel
- Ensures safety and proper techniques
- Can be done by window washing or specialized solar companies
- Installers may provide recommendations

For maximum solar savings, keep those panels sparkling clean!

During the month May we celebrate Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders (AAPIs) and their rich heritage.

1843 The month commemorates the arrival of the first Japanese immigrant; a fisherman named Nakanohama Manjiro, or "John Mung," to the United States on May 7, 1843.

1869 Marks the transcontinental railroad's completion on May 10, 1869.

1978 President Jimmy Carter signed a joint resolution that declared May 4-10, 1979, as the first Asian Pacific American Heritage Week.

1990 The celebration was extended to a month officially by President George H.W. Bush in 1990.

Now Today, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders are the fastest growing racial group in the country, growing over 4 times as rapidly as the population of the United States, and expected to double to more than 47 million by 2060.

PRESIDENT'S DAY
and WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY
remembering history

MONDAY IS PRESIDENT'S DAY, an American holiday celebrated on the third Monday in February. Originally established in 1885 in recognition of President George Washington, it is still officially called "Washington's Birthday" by the federal government. The holiday gained special meaning during the difficulties of the Great Depression, when portraits of George Washington often graced the front pages of newspapers and magazines every February 22. While the day was traditionally celebrated on February 22—Washington's actual day of birth—the holiday became popularly known as President's Day after it was moved as part of 1971's Uniform Monday Holiday Act, an attempt to create more three-day weekends for the nation's workers.

DID YOU KNOW?

President's Day never falls on the actual birthday of any American president. Four chief executives—George Washington, William Henry Harrison, Abraham Lincoln and Ronald Reagan were born in February, but their birthdays all come either too early or late to coincide with President's Day, which is always celebrated on the third Monday of the month.

The 3 Different Types of Solar Panel Installations

Grid-Tied Solar System

Grid-tied systems are solar power setups that are connected to the electricity grid — and work without any battery backup equipment.

They are currently the most common type of solar panel system in American homes. And despite growing interest in battery technologies, most homeowners going solar today still opt for installing a grid-tied set up on their roofs.

Hybrid Solar System

A hybrid system is when your solar panels remain connected to the grid's power lines and have a backup battery system to store excess power. The sun's energy absorbed by the solar panels goes through an inverter to create usable electricity. From there, electricity either goes to your home, to your battery, or to the grid.

Off-Grid Solar System

Off-grid solar means meeting all your energy needs from the power of the sun — with no help from the electrical grid. To make this possible, you need to install a solar power system paired with an energy storage system, like a solar battery, at the site of power consumption (your home).

What Makes SolarReviews Leads The Best

A steady stream of new, reliable work is the key to making a successful solar installation company into one that thrives.

III You need three things to grow your business:

A trusted vendor that supplies high-quality leads

A process that ensures leads go through a detailed contact cadence plan

An understanding that not all leads purchased will convert

II That's where SolarReviews comes in.

SolarReviews only offers verified leads.

Consumers can opt out of being contacted before we deliver the lead to you, resulting in better contact rates.

I Cost breakdown example:

With a lead conversion rate of about 5% you'll generate between $6,000 and $10,000 in gross margin for every $1,000 spent on leads.

Work with SolarReviews and your dedicated Account Manager to increase your flow of customers to help your business thrive.

Solar Panel Type by Performance

Top-tier: Monocrystalline

The average efficiency rating of monocrystalline panels ranges from 17% - 22%. Compared to other panel types, monocrystalline panels can convert more sunlight into electricity for your home to use.

Mid-tier: Polycrystalline

Polycrystalline panels have efficiency ratings between 15% and 17%, so you'll need to install more panels to power your home. These panels are cheaper but aren't used as often because of the great performance of monocrystalline panels.

Low-tier: Thin-film

Thin-film panels have low efficiency ratings of 10% - 13% and are usually only used for large-scale commercial projects. You probably won't have a solar installer recommending these panels for your home.

Lead Pipe Replacement Process

- 1 Technician connects new copper lines to the old lead service line.
- 2 Excavator pulls the old line out, drawing the new line behind it.
- 3 Technician connects the new copper line to the water main and the home's plumbing.

5 Sources Of Lead In Drinking Water

Lead Solder

Solder is a metal substance that seals the joints where two pipes meet. Solder installed or manufactured pre-1986 contained high lead levels.

Lead Service Line

If the pipe that runs from the municipal water main to the house is lead, it could contaminate the drinking water.

Faucets

Old plumbing fixtures inside the home may contain lead.

Galvanized Pipe

Galvanized pipes are made of steel with a zinc coating to prevent rusting. The zinc coating contains lead that can break down over time and enter drinking water.

Connectors

Short pipes that connect a water service line to the water main, may contain lead. These pipes are often called goose necks or pigtails.

How many solar panels do I need?

- Step 1 Get your monthly electricity consumption in kWh from your electricity bill.
- Step 2 Find out how much sunlight your area gets per month using the SolarReviews map.
- Step 3 Divide your household electricity consumption by the monthly peak sun hours to find the system size you need in kW.
- Step 4 Divide your system size by the power output of each panel (in kW). The average power output is 400 watts, or 0.4 kW.

Example

1,200 kWh use per month / 150 monthly peak sun hours = 8 kW solar system
8 kW system / 0.4 kW panel = 20 solar panels
